

The Daily Courant.

Tuesday, August 3. 1703

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated August 9.

BY the Neutral Countries we have Letters from the Camp at Due Castelli of the 17th of July, which say, that the Courier dispatch'd by the Duke of Vendome to the Court of France was return'd, with a List of the Regiments that are to march towards the Trentin; they are to consist of 20 Battallions and 36 Squadrons, and are to be commanded by Monsieur de Bezons. The Duke of Vendome, will accompany this Detachment with the rest of his Army as far as Peshiera, on the Lake of Garda; and if the Venerians refuse them Passage they will take it by force. They will carry with them some heavy Artillery, and tools for breaking up Ground. The Prince de Vaudemont is to guard the Secchia in the absence of so great a part of the Army.

From Paris they write, that there are Letters from Languedoc which say that the Camisards have seiz'd an Officer of great Merit, named Monsieur de Tornac, and have signified to the Marshal de Montrevel that they will certainly put him to Death, unless he restore them Monsieur de Salgas safe and sound.

The Count de Thoulouse is gone Post from Paris for Thoulon; and 'tis said he will put to Sea within a Day or 2 after he arrives there.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated August 11.

From the Imperial Army encamp'd at Hontsheim, Aug. 2. To Day came advice, that the Count de la Tour with a Body of 4000 Horse, pass'd the Danube on the 31st of July at Stattle between Ellingen and Mondlingen; that 2000 French Foot and 4000 Horse fell upon him; and that having surrounded him, after a sharp Fight, they oblig'd him to retire over the Danube again. Deserters from the Enemy report, that in this Action the French lost a Brigadier who commanded the Party, and 4 or 500 Soldiers: On our side, at least 300 were kill'd, besides Officers, among which the Captains Bekkana and Beer are certainly lost; some of our Men likewise were drown'd in the Danube, among them Prince Christian of Hanover. The Enemy took 3 Standards from us, and we 2 from them. The further particulars of this Action may be expected by next Post.

Ruremond, August 8. We have receiv'd Advice that there has been a smart Action between some Imperial Troops commanded by the Count de la Tour and a Detachment of the French Army, on the Danube; of the Particulars of which we are not yet inform'd; but in the general we learn, that of the Imperialists 500 were kill'd or wounded, and of the French a greater Number. Prince Christian of Hanover, Brother to the Elector of that Name, endeavour'd to escape by Swimming his Horse over the Danube, but the Horse being shot dead, Prince Christian was drown'd.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated August 9.

Venice July 21. We have Letters from the Camp of the Imperialists, which say, that on Advice that the French were sending some Troops towards the Lake of Garda, General Vaubonne had reinforced the Post of Rivoli, and that General Solari was advancing towards the Trentin with a Body of 7 or 8000 Men.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated August 9.

Venice, July 21. The Duke of Vendome, who continued encamp'd at Due Castelli in the Mantuan, on the 18th, has sent to demand of our Regents Passage through the Bressan for a Detachment of 15000 Men which he is order'd to send into the Trentin, to joyn the Elector of Bavaria who is moving to meet it; But we know not yet what Answer their Lordships have return'd him. Mean time we learn that the French have already caus'd some Troops to march towards the Lake of Garda, which will be speedily follow'd by the rest. At the same time we are inform'd that all the Posts that are possess'd by the Imperialists on the side of that Lake, as also all the Streights of the Mountains of the Trentin are well provided with Regular Troops and Militia; that General Solari is advancing that Way with a Body of 7 or 8000 Men; and that General Staremberg, has detach'd 12000 Foot and Horse to follow the 15000 French abovemention'd.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated August 11.

Inspruck, July 25. We have Advice that the Bavarian Army in Tyrol is ruin'd, and that the Elector himself narrowly miss'd being kill'd or taken: As also that Rattenburg, and the Pass of Strab are fallen again into the Hands of the Imperialists. 'Tis confirm'd that the Count d'Arco is shot dead, that the Count de Verita is knock'd on the Head by the Peasants in Hall, and that the Bavarian Garrisons in Scharnitz and Hall were put to the Sword.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated August 11.

Heylbron, August 4. The Peasants of Tyrol have so secur'd all the Passes of their Country, that the Bavarians can neither move forwards nor backwards. We have a Report here, that the Elector of Bavaria being inform'd that the Peasants in Hall had saw'd off the Hands and Feet of the Count de Verita and a Lieutenant Colonel, caus'd 500 Peasants he had taken Prisoners to be butcher'd.

Frankfort, August 5. There is Advice that the Prince of Anhalt Dessau has joyn'd the Body of Troops commanded by the Margrave of Bareith, and that Prince Lewis of Baden was advanc'd nearer to the Danube in order to pass over it on the 6th. Letters from Ulm say, that the French have taken Possession of 3 of the Gates of that City, whether the Bavarians would or no, on which occasion the Dispute ran so high between them, that some Blood was spilt in the Quarrel.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated August 9.

Letters from Munich of the 31st of last Month, advise that the Elector of Bavaria has intirely quit- ted Tirol, and that he is already arriv'd with his Vanguard at Mittervahl; that he had left all his Ar- tillie in Halle when it was retaken by the Peasants; and that a great Number of wounded were brought to Munich: That the Elector himself was expected hourly by his Lady, but that some Letters said he was in great danger to be lost.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated August 11.

Leidau, August 3. Five or six Regiments of the French, are detach'd to this side of the Rhine, the gross of their Army is march'd towards Oppenwyer. The Forces commanded by General Hochkirken are march'd to joyn the Prince of Baden. Just now comes Advice that the French who were left encamp'd on the Glacis of the Counterscarp of Fort Louis, receiv'd orders yesterday to hold themselves in a readiness to march; and are 'tis said to go to Strasburg, there to pass the Rhine.

Letters from Liege and Brussels say, they had News from France that Berfello surrendered on the 27th of July on Discretion.

From the Army of the Allies commanded by the Duke of Marlborough encamp'd at Borchloen, August 9. On the 7th the Right of the Army march'd from Houthalen to Sonhoven, from whence the Left extended it self to Hasselt in order to secure our passage over the Demer; which River we pass'd yesterday over Bridges laid for that purpose, and came and encamp'd with the Right at Borchloen on the Herck and the Left at Oerle on the Jaar; the Artillery and Baggage which was sent away on the 7th. to pass Munsterbiller and to march by Tongres, joyn'd us again this Afternoon. We shall halt in this Camp 2 or 3 days while the Artillery and Ammunition are embarking at Liege to be carry'd up the Maes to be employ'd against Huy. The Baron de Trogne came hither yesterday from Liege to inform my Lord Duke of the forwardness the Preparations are in for the Siege of Huy, and return'd immediately back thither to hasten them. We have Intelligence that the Enemy are advanc'd with the Main of their Army towards St. Tron between that place and Leewe. On the 7th in the Evening 3 Sarjeants with 71 private Men Deserters from the Enemy, came over to us in a Body, they met a Party of French in the Way, who would have seiz'd them, but they fought the Party and made their escape. We have had several others come over to us since.

Private Letters from Holland say, that the Burgers of Amersfort have at length submitted, and receiv'd some of the Troops that were sent against them into their Town. The States of Utrecht have granted them an Amnesty, but with an Exception of 10 Persons, the chief Stricklers in the Rebellion, who will be Prosecuted and in all likelihood punish'd with Death; and to prevent any commotions of the Populace in their favour, the Inhabitants of Amersfort are all disarm'd, and 4 pieces of Cannon are planted in the great Market Place. 2 more Regiments are shortly expected there.
